Good Morning!

I'd like to please direct your attention to the attached LAPD newsletter released last week. On March 5, 2016, LAPD and a McDonald's restaurant in South LA teamed up to host "Coffee with a Cop" – a great community event that brought together LAPD officers and more than 150 community members. Most contacts between residents and officers are made during emergency situations, which is not always the most effective time for relationship-building with the community. This unique event allows LAPD and residents to interact and address concerns affecting the neighborhood. More "Coffee with a Cop" events are being planned throughout Los Angeles!

Please let me know if you have any questions!
